My son Damon is currently attending Bright Beginnings Montessori School in Oxford. He walked in a shy boy, who couldn't read or write. This has since changed. I am confident that he will walk out with the necessary techniques that he will need to further his education. I highly recommend this school in Oxford, MA, as you will notice a significant increase in your child's persona. He has a wonderful teacher, who shows much pride in her work. I simply cannot express in words how much Damon has learned this past year. Your child deserves the best education available.

My daughter has been attending Bright Beginnings Montessori for 2 years now, and she loves it. Last year she attended the 3 day program, and this year she goes 5 days. I feel that Bright Beginnings was the best choice for our daughter, as we visited both the “free play” model programs and Montessori and felt that the Montessori model was a better fit for her. She had spent time in day care and didn’t need the emphasis on socialization that some of the “free play” programs focus on. Our daughter is excited to go to school each morning. She comes home every afternoon with a folder full of the work that she’s done that day and explains it to us. She reads us books at night and it’s amazing to see how much she’s learned and grown in a year.

The materials that are used in the classroom are practical and are used in every day applications. The student/teacher ratio is phenomenal and her teacher is always available and accommodating. It’s my opinion that Bright Beginnings Montessori is giving our daughter the tools and start that she needs to begin her career as a student. In September 2011, our oldest will have to leave to start kindergarten, but our youngest daughter will start her journey at Bright Beginnings Montessori. I look forward to another 2 years of learning and exploring with her as well.
